Americans Advancing on Tarlac in Three Divisions.

Dagupan May Become a New Base of Operations.

Fleet of Transports and Gunboats Leaves Manila for the North. Wheaton in Command of Strong Forces.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] MANILA, Nov. 5, noon.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Operations have been go-ing on steadily for some time, and they ng on steadily for some time, and they are gradually gaing scope and momentum with the arrival of reinforcements from the United States. What may appear to have been somewhat discursive movements recently were really the necessary preliminaries of a general scheme. Lawton's movement was the first step. Wheaton will start in the morning with the Thirteenth and Thirty-third regiments, two 3-inch and two Gatling guns and will proceed on transports Sheridan, Aztec and Francisco de Reyes to a port on the Gulf of Lingayen, which is to the northwest of that part of the country in which the present operations are being carried on. The gunboat Helena will accompany the expedition. The Charles-ton is already in the gulf, and the Ben-nington may cooperate in the move-ment. After landing Wheaton's column will move eastward toward the Carabello Mountains.

In the mean time Lawton, whose force is moving to the northwest, will endeavor to connect with Wheaton and prevent the enemy's escape through the Carabello Mountains into northern provinces. MacArthur's column will ontinue steadily northward, clearing the country between him and Lawton

The insurgents are hurriedly digging intrenchments along twenty miles of road from Aliaga to Tarlac, and also along other roads leading to Tarlac. It is apparent that they expect Lawton to advance upon Tarlac. Heavy intrench-ments have also been thrown up in front of Bamban, seventeen miles south of Tarlac on the line of the Dagupan Railway. The rebels may attempt to make a stand at Bamban. Gen. Otis is hopeful that they will, but is afraid they will not.

The reports received by Gen. Otis show that the insurgent capital has been partly removed to Bayambang, twentyfour miles northwest of Tarlac. railroad has been practically destroyed by the rebels. They are now boring holes in the boilers of the engines and déstroying the rolling stock. Insurgent ondence which was recently that the wildest kind of reports have been circulated by Filipino leaders in desperate endeavor to hold together their sinking cause. They give cir-cumstantial accounts of American losses, placing the total at over 25,000, which is just about two-thirds of the entire American force in the Philip munition. They are using a bad quality of self-made black powder, and are rking hard with ancient Spanish

The fighting south of Manila will be confined to what is absolutely neces-sary to maintain the present position. The real objective is the north, and it is in this direction that the chief effort will be made. It certainly seems now that there is good prospect of comparatively early success. Allaga, which was recently occupied by the Americans, was a great rebel storehouse. It is the center of the rice. growing district, and its trade has heretofore been very considerable. Last year 43,000 tons of rice were exported from the place.

OTHER PARTICULARS.

[A. P. NIGHT REPORT.]
MANILA, Nov. 5, 9 p.m.—[By Maila Cable.] This evening a ransports and gunboats left Manila r the most important expedition of e autumn campaign. Its destination supposed to be Dagupan or some ther northern poit.

Gen. Wheaton commands, with a brigade consisting of the Thirteenth In-fantry, the Thirty-third Infantry, two guns of the Sixth Artillery and two-Gatling guns. The transports Sheri-dan, Francisco de Reyes and Azte-carry the troops, with the gunboat Helena as escort.

A dispatch boat was sent ahead to arrange a rendezvous with the United States cruiser Charleston, and the other warships, that are patroling the north coast of Luzon.

It is assumed here that the purpose of the expedition is to move down the Dagupan-Manila railroad toward Tar-Dagupan-Manila rallroad toward Tarlac, or to prevent Aguinaldo's forces making another base farther north.
Dagupan and Aparri are the strongholds of the insurgents in the north.

It has been the unanimous opinion of the military experts that Dagupan should be made a base of operations, but sufficient troops have heretofore been lacking. With Gens. Wheaton,

Aguinaldo may attempt to shift his headquarters to the rich tobacco country at the northern end of the island. It will be difficult for the insurgents to escape. — s.

Should the concerted operations succeed, organized insurrection on a large scale should be at an end early next spring, although guerrilla warfare is likely to continue for a long time. No one anticipates that the insurgents will make many hard battles.

Cape Boers Becoming Restless Basutos On the Rise-Sanguinary Battle Near Colenso-Retreat from Stormberg.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—[By Atlantic Ca-le.] The general belief in London is hat the Boers are now waiting for more guns from Pretoria before atg Ladysmith. The fact that Sir Redevers Buller appears to have ordered a retirement from Stormberg, and perhaps from other places, relieves to some extent the public mindy which otherwise would ave been further alarmed. Confidence is felt in any measure that Gen. Rul-ler may deem desirable. The knowledge that the pigeon post is working has also come as a relief to the great anxiety previously felt.

The third-class cruiser Pelorus has en ordered from Gibraltar to Durban and the third-class cruiser Fearless from Port Said to the same point. Dispatches from Cape Town and other centers in Cape Colony indicate that the Cape Dutch are becoming very restless in consequence of the Boer

The Morning Post's Ladysmith correspondent reagraphing November 1

"We Annot understand the Boen tactics. It is incomprehensible that they should have refrained from using their big guns this morning."

Commenting upon this dispatch, the Morning Post says: "It is easy to guess the reason why the Boers have been nonplussed by the arrival of the naval guns at Ladysmith. They are now regretting a lost opportunity, as they might have cut the railway and thus prevented the appearance of those guns

The Times, in a careful editorial today on the relations of the United States to the war in South Africa, says: When the continent rings with denunciations of England, it is very cheering and refreshing for the Eng-lish people to note the sympathy and intelligent comprehension manifested in the United States. We should prize American sympathy in any case, but it becomes doubly grateful when mani-festly based on a deliberate and wellfestly based on a deliberate and wen-informed judgment of the essential merits of the quarrel, as well as upon reciprocation of the kindly feel with which Englishmen regard Ameri-

"The artillery duel at dawn, in which the Boer guns were silenced, was in-tended to occupy the Boers and to en-able Sir George Stewart White to achieve his chief purpose, the capture of the Boer camp behind Bester's Hill. For this purpose the Lancers, Hussars, Natal Carbineers and Natal Border Rifles started, under Gen. French, at sunrise, and got within striking dis-tance before the enemy was aware of their presence. A field battery was also sent, and it secured a good position, commanding the enemy's camp, which

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Daily Mail publishes the following dispatch from Burghers Dorp, dated November 2:

"The large British camp at Stormberg Junction has been broken up today by order of Sir Redvers Buller, Everything, including gups, stores, tents and the usual paraphdhaalia of a tamp is being removed to Queenstown, about fifty miles southeast of Stormberg. An Orange Free State force about 3500 strong, with several guns. about 3500 strong, with several guns which for some time was concentrated just across the Orange River, has crossed the ridge at Bethulle, destroying portions of the railway on its march. This is obviously with the in-march. This is obviously with the intention of thecking the coming advance of our army corps.

"The enemy now appears to be waiting information before making a further move to the south. The impression here is that the removal of the Stormberg camp may result in a large number of the colonial Boers joining the army. The English section is utterly upset at the withdrawal of the Boer troops, and the serious news from Natal.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 2.—[Delayed in transmission.] The British transport Nineveh arrived today from England.

Nineveh arrived today from England, bringing the New South Wales Lancers from Aldershot. The lancers were enthusiastically welcomed by the municipal authorities and the populace. The presence of the lancers was eagerly seized upon at once as affording the people of Cape Colony an opportunity of showing their gratitude for the help tendered by a sister colony.

The news of the losses at Ladysmith caused an unmistakable depression, especially when coupled with the fact that the Boers invaded the colony almost simultaneously. The Dutch of the colony are proving themselves loyal to the British government, and so far as has been ascertained few of them have joined the Boers.

The Boer prisoners have arrived at Simon's Town, near Cape Town, where they are well treated.

LADYSMITH (Friday,) Nov. 3. (Delayed.)-[Exclusiva Dispatch.] The arrival or the naval brigade Monday was most opportune. It would do one good to see the great-chested, bearded and steadfast men amid the army of boys. They did fine service yesterday. They mounted their gun in record time and silenced the Long Tom of the Boers at 6 o'clock yesterday. The Long Tom was tried again, but the blue jackets again silenced it. -

In the second round the British lost three wounded, including, unfortunately, an officer. At dinner time Sun-day he had not started for the front. At dinner time Monday his leg was amputated.

The feature of yesterday's fighting was the great variety of Boer guns disclosed. The effect of the eight hours' artillery fight was terrible, though less deadly than an infantry combat. The perpetual boom of the guns and the hiss and rattle of shells gave a particularly remorseless impression, and em-phasized the helplessness of man before the deadly machines that he cre-

"The effect of the new revenue law is shown in the receipts of the year, in which there was an increase in 1898 of $156,553,419 from customs and $102,536,520 from internal revenue. The collections of internal revenue were larger, than those for any prayious year, with the exception only of 1866, and the total ordinary receipts, which amounted to $513,950,620, were also the largest on record, with the same exception. The net ordinary expenses were a little over $605,000,000, an amount exceeded only twice in 1663 and 1861. There was a deficiency of $85,111,559 in ordinary

PORTO RICO CROP REPORT.

WEEKLY BULLETIN.

The crop report issued by the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, covering the Porto Rico section for the week ending October 21, is as follows:

Lajas reports for the week 4.00 inches of rain, and Bayamon reports 2.13 inches. At all other stations moderate rains have occurred, favoring all classes of cultivation, and being especially beneficial to cane. The weather has been generally cooler.

The following meteorological conditions prevailed at San Juan during the week ending October 21, 1899:

Mean temperature for the week, 79.8 deg. cm. the tions prevailed at San Juan during the week ending October 21, 1899:

Mean temperature for the week, 79.8 deg.
Highest temperature, 86 deg on the 16th.
Lowest temperature, 73.4 deg. on the 17th.
Total rainfall, 1.37 inches.
Cane—The promising conditions noted last week continue. In Arecibo and Guayama the planting and cultivation has been somewhat interrupted by rain, but in other districts rapid progress has been made. A scarcity of seed cane is reported in the neighborhood of Canovanas. In Humacoa some deterioration is noted in the larger cane injured by the hurricane, rendering a prompt grinding necessary. The establishments are being placed in condition for the approaching grinding.
Coffee—The outlook has not improved. Small quantities of the berry are being gathered, but reports indicate that the plantations have been practically abandoned.
Tobacco—In almost all districts activity is evinced in the planting of this product and seed plots are in fine condition. In Cayey the plantations are being laid out. In places there are those who believe that the demand is not keeping pace with the increased prices, and are not planting heavily on that account.

Minor products—Much of this class is being planted and the crops are in good condition. Some scarcity of seed can be a ravaging portions of the country near. Canovanas are not spreading, being confined to certain limited localities.

FOR LAW AND ORDER.

STRONG APPEALS MADE BY EMI-NENT CLERGYMEN.

Bishop Montgomery Rebukes Prophets of Evil and Says Good Citizenship, Character and Manhood are Needed.

Nearly every seat in the Pavilion was occupied when, at 2:45 o'clock, Rev. Will A. Knighten, D.D., called 'the meeting' to order. The labor organizations were largely represented. Many members of the various churches to whom the meeting had beer announced by their pastors were also in attendance. On the platform were seated more than a score of ministers, and in the audience were many more. The meeting was opened by the singing of 'All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name,' the singing being led by a male quartette. Rt. Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, D.D., Bishop of the Episcopal Church, then read several short passages from the scriptures, followed by a prayer for all conditions of men and for the unity of God's people. Led by the quartette, the audience joined in singing "Nearer My God to Thee."

"Brothers of the United Labor Council of Los Angeles, brother ministers and friends: This is a remarkable meeting. It is called in a most remarkand friends: This is a remarkable meeting, It is called in a most remarkable manner, and for a most remarkable purpose. It is non-sectarian. It is composed of all the different phases of religious opinion, men who represent all creeds and no creed. It is called by the laboring people of Los Angeles, who have carefully prepared an address, and by a committee have sent it to the clergy, inviting, requesting and urging them to come to this place today to meet them in a service, which is in the nature of a religious union meeting. It amounts to a challenge and suggests to all that we need to hold an interview and consultation over matters of most vital importance to all Christians and to all workingmen. This is what they say:

"We, the members of the working class, the largest class in this community, hold out the hand of fellowship. Do not draw back. We know the hand is soiled, but God is, no respector of persons. Surely, then, you should not be ashamed to take it. Brethren, in the name of God, we of the common people ask you to once again help Christ to set a guardian angel beside each sleeping babe.

In the name of God, we ask you to once again help Christ unfurl the flag of again help Christ unfurl the flag of equality above the slave market and the palace alike. In the name of God, we ask you to once again help Christ give society a new impulse. Here in this community are thousands longing for a broader and more just brotherhood. Here in this community may be found thousands hungering, as mended women have never—hungered before, for the true gospel of the Carpenter of Mazareth. "Come, let us reason together."

"This meeting is called for a great, and yet peculiar purpose. They say: "If there is one thing more than another with which the workingmen of this city are profoundly impressed, it is the way the church in Los Angeles has allowed the industrial class to grapple, almost unaided, with their problem; to fight unhelped for what they feel and know to be right. We are not ashamed to say we have needed your assistance always. We are not ashamed to say that we need it now."

"These statements are the background and furnish the material for this great mass meeting. As ministers of the universal church of Christ, we could not refuse to accept the cordial and manly invitation of our brethren of the United Labor Council. I could not, it is a good omen. It is the dawning of a brighter day. There may be a common ground upon which all great questions may be discused. This is one of the nation's greatest problems. It is more, it is the world's growing question. There may be ignorance as to how best to treat it. There may be prejudice that prevents cooperation. There may be different methods of dealing with its solution. I believe in all paceable and brotherly discussion. I believe in all intellectual and moral development. I believe in all social and Christian effort to reach the right conclusion.

More than half the ministers of the gospel in this city attended a mass meeting yesterday afternoon at Hazard's Pavilion. In many respects the meeting was a peculiar one. With pessinism characteristic of most of them, a number of the so-called "labor leaders' have been for the past several weeks, spreading the doctrine that the church (not any particular denomination, but the church as a whole,) does not display the interest in the laboring classes that it should; that the church is opposed to the workingmen; that between the church and the working people there is not that bond of sympathy and fellowship that should exist—in short, that the working classes do not swing menbers of the policion of the policion of the ministers is the eight was sent an invitation to attend the meeting.

NEED OF A PACIFIC CABLE.

The New York Tribune, discussing the above subject, brings some very pertinent and forcible arguments to bear upon it in favor of the construction of the proposed cable as soon as possible significance the fact that at the late commercial congress in Philadelphia the matter was broached by Mr. Otani, a delegate from Japan, and also by Gen ...2319 Hartwell, a delegate from our own insular possession of Hawaii, showing the FORWARD IN THE PHILIPPINES. deep interest felt in the project outside Our troops in the Philippines continue of the United States, which is in reality their swift campaign against the enemy, the principal country in interest; since larger part of the benefits which invading his towns, capturing his arms will accrue from the laying of the cable and ammunition, and carrying the flag will be derived by the United States as a nation, and by citizens of the United

The Tribune says, with truth, tha the need for a Pacific cable has vastly turning; no falling back; we are sus- increased within the past two years as have also the facilities for laying i with the ground covered and the results and the obligations upon the United war with Spain and the annexation of Hawaii, the cable was needed principally for commercial purposes. in addition to the commercial need which has grown enormously, another need has grown up which is imperative-the need of a cable for government use in the management of our insular possessions.

A Pacific cable must be laid some time in the future, and the sooner work is begun upon it the better. If the cable had been laid two years ago, its every landing place would have been upon foreign territory. Now it need no touch upon alien territory at any point

The Tribune well says: "From California to Hawaii, from Hawaii to Wake, from Wake to Guam, from Guam to the Philippines, it would everywhere be under the Stars and Stripes. And beyond the Philippines it would not need to go, since there is al-ready a cable from Manila to Hongkong, at the latter place connecting with others looping along the coast of Asia, northward to Shanghai and thence to Japan, to Fusan and to Vladivostok and southward to Singapore and Madras and across the seas to Java, Australia and New Zealand. Of course, if Japan wants the advantage of a direct line from Hawaii or Wake Island the con struction of it should be welcomed. But that would not be absolutely necessary. A line to the Philippines would put us in connection with all the Asian and Australasian world. There is and Australasian world. AN AMERICAN ON THE BOERS.

The remarkable fight that is being put up by the little handful of Dutchmen in South Africa against the British empire has stimulated interest in these remarkable people, and led to an eage inquiry for information as to what they really are like. Seldom, in cases of this kind, have opinions varied so much in regard to easily ascertainable facts On the one side, it is claimed that the Boers are narrow, dirty, unprogressive and bigoted fanatics, who wish to maintain and support a sort of middle-age feudal despotism in the Transvaal, and permit outsiders to live there only under sufferance, taxing them extortionately On the other hand, friends of the Boers describe them as a brave, upright, moral and patriotic people, resembling the Puritans who founded this country—a people who, like those Puritans, were forced to flee from home on account of oppression, and who are now fighting maintain the freedom upon which they set so much store. As is usual in such cases, the truth probably lies somewhere about midway between these two extremes.

An American, Howard C. Hillega has written a book entitled "Oom Paul's People," which throws much interesting light upon the character of the Boers The writer does not seek to concea the fact that his sympathy lies with the South African Republicans, and it should therefore be read in that light.

Of the means by which the Boers as quired their territory, President Kruger in an interview, which constitutes one chapter of the book, says:

chapter of the book, says:

"Ever since we left Cape Colony in 1835 we have not taken any territory from the natives by conquest except that of one chief whose murderous maraudings compelled us to drive him away from his country. We bartered and bought every inch of land we now have. England has taken all the land she has in South Africa at the muzshe has in South Africa at the muzzles of repeating rifles and machine guns That is the civilized method of extend-ing the bounds of the empire they talk about so much. The record of previous engagement between the Boers and the British, as given in this work, is a remarkable one, and is not fraught with much encour agement to those who look to see the British army quickly victorious in the present war. The author enumerates five principal battles which have been waged between the Boers and the English, giving the number of men en gaged, and the casualties on each side

as follows: son raid

In every one of these engagements the Boers were victorious, the British having triumphed over them in but one battle, that of Bhoomphats, in 1848, when the British had heavy artillery and the Boers nothing better than flint locks. In the case of Majuba Hill, the British were intrenched in a most formidable position. The result of Laing's Neck and Majuba Hill was a treaty partially restoring the independence of the South African republic, Great Britain retaining suzerain rights, which were afterward, in subsequent treaties, whittled down to the simple right to veto treaties the Transvaal government might make with foreign countries.

Of the grievances that exist at the present day, Mr. Hillegas seems to consider that the Boers have their full He claims that, in the matter of taxation, they are the injured party, as they have to submit to an exorbitant tax on everything that passes through from the coast to the Transvaal, which is an inland State, and is, he said, preyed upon by the States and colonies which lie between it and the sea.

As to the character of the Boers, Mr

Hillegas describes them as simple people, fond of solitude, and preferring to live out of sight of their neighbor's house. Their chief recreation is the shooting of game, not for sport, but race of such physical giants. He puts the average height of the full-grown males at not less than 6 feet 2 inches, and their physique and powers of endurance are said to be marvelously developed. They confidently assert that, in time of warfare, one Boer equals five Englishmen. The Boer reads nothing but the Bible; his belief in it is indestructible, and his constant references to it are not cant, but are owing to the same reason that makes the sailor speal the language of the sea-it is a part of his daily life. The two political parties in the Transvaal, even, are divided on religious, not political, grounds, the Progressives being those who sing hymns and the Conservatives those who do not! Kruger is a Conservative.

In regard to the frequently made charge that the Boers are dirty in their persons and habits, the author of this ork makes the rather peculiar excuse that "water is a priceless possession' where the Boer lives. In that case, seeing that cleanliness is next to godliness it might be well for our missionary societies to send out well-boring outfits to the Transvaal, instead of Bibles, with which they appear to be already well supplied.

The Boers are, doubtless, fully convinced that they are right, and to some extent they probably are right, but when the whole matter is summed up, it comes down to another instance of an obstacle to the world's progress which must be removed to facilitate the ruthless march of modern events. However much some of us may wish it, there is little chance to see again restored the era of pastoral simplicity and contentment with the things that are. Mankind is on the move, whether for better or worse, and those who choose to sit down in the middle of the road must not be surprised if they are run over or jogged aside with unpleasant force.

Considering the campaign that Maude Gonne is making in Paris, perhaps we can be forgiven for saying that the Boers ought to be gone on her.

Judging by the dispatches that leak out from that beleaguered city, but for these guns and the men who serve them, the garrison there and the great quantity of military stores would have fallen prey to the audacious Boers several days ago. from the text, "Then Jesus was led up of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil," Matthew. iv, 1. The Holy Spirit deemed it necessary that Christ should be tried and tempted by Satan, in order to develop His human character and to prepare Him for His public ministry. He "increased in wisdom," and He was present among the doctors in the temple to learn; for He surely did not pretend to be ignorant, when He asked questions. In Hebrews it is written that "the captain of salvation was made perfect through suffering;" that "He was tempted as we are," and that "He learned by what He suffered." Christ was prepared by man and God for His mission. According to the Bible, Satan is sometimes very useful. He destroyed Job's vanity, He sifted Peter and revealed his weakness; and He cured Paul of spiritual pride. He is the severe critic, the merciless sifter, and the exposer of hypocrisy. He tempted Christ and found out that He was all good, and fit to be trusted with all power for His grand work. We try tools, swords, guns, cannon, and bridges, before we use them, in order that we may be sure that they can be trusted. Men and women are fitted for positions of trust only after they have been tested for years. God has great positions of trust in the next world, and we are tested in this life, and prepared for tasks in heaven. The first temptation was an appeal to the animal propensities of Christ; but Christ showed Satan that human life demands other food than bread, and that great spiritual power can procure. The second temptation was an appeal to intellectual or physical power can procure. The second temptation was an appeal to intellectual or physical power can procure. He baptized Christ a His urgent request. The spirit wat Christ's guide into the wilderness, and His urgent request. The spirit was Christ's guide into the wilderness, and Satan there, among rocks and wild beasts, tested the Master's divine powers, and acknowledged Him qualified and worthy to receive the sublimest degree upon earth. Christ had all knowledge that man then possessed, and He knew all the mysteries of the kingdom; and He revealed them to His disciples whenever they were prepared to receive them. The mysteries of nature, of ancient societies, and of heaven were all known to him, who is forever "the way, the truth, and the life." In the early Christian church, the members were initiated into the mysteries of religion. There were three classes of initiates—auditors, catechumens and the faithful. The apostolic constitutions speak of these mysteries, ceremonies and degrees. They are mentioned by these bishops, Clemens of Alexandria, Archelaus, Cyril, St. Basil, St. Gregory, St. Ambrose, St. Augustine, St. Chryssotom, Theodoret Origen defended the mysteries of the Christian church. mysteries of the Christian church. All Christians are passing through the wilderness of trials and temptations. God's good and wise spirit leads us into these trials. It is not a sin to be tempted to do whât we know is wrong. We cannot prevent temptations from coming to us; but we can by God's grace, and by following Christ's example, resist and defeat them. The principal aim of Christians is to be such men and such women as God has created us to be. We are here to develop our manhood and womanhood; and it is impossible to attain this development without temptations, trials, sufferings. We can so live and strive that we shall be victors through the captain of our salvation.

The Commonplace.

REV. C. J. K. JONES preached vesterday morning in the Church of the Unity, corner of Third and Hill streets, on "The Commonplace." Hill streets, on the commonplaces of life form its main miracles. The 'unconsidered trifles' dally passing before our vision form a mine of inestimable wealth. The little and least things of nature constitute, its that blows about the streets has and cosmic meaning. In the dust that settles on my coat, or shoes, there is an infinite story of human history and of cosmic phenomena. When we are wise enough, and are devout without knowledge, we shall do-away with dust as much as possible, because it is often fateful with the germs of disease. The commonplace is filled with divine meaning. Prof. Sorauer has said: 'Without 'chlordphyll there can be no organic life on the earth.' Hence the commonplace of a green leaf; or blade of grass, has written therein the reason why man can exist. In the fact of the leaf lies the possibility of thought, and longing, and hope of suffering, of joy, engladness, of sin and righteousness, of man's earthly cares, and of visions that earth and time cannot limit, but are wide as the boundlessness of time and the infinity of God. All the world is filled with a rhythm of order, and harmony, that finds expression throughout the cosmic universe.

"For the world was built in order, And the atoms march in tune; Rhyme the pipe and Time the warder. The sun obeys them, and the moon.' "In all the phenomena of things we cannot tell amid the commonplace what is little or what is great. Probably we shall be nearest correct if we shall say all is great, for our modern science has demonstrated that not a unit of force and not an atom of matter can be destroyed. It is one of the grand features in our modern hiosophy that what is commonplace is the most suggestive of the divine order in the nature of things.

Family Religion.

Family Religion.

YesterDAY morning at the Picotor, Rev. Dr. W. R. Goodwin, announced as his text a part of the fifteenth verse of the twenty-fourth chapter of Joshua: "But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord," and spoke, in part, as follows: "Joshua had recounted in the presence of all the people their history and God's dealings with them, and then asked them to choose between the Lord Jehovah and idolatry. He and his family chose to serve the Lord, and the people also decided to serve and obey the Lord God.

Three Degrees,

Rev. J. S. THOMSON, pastor of the independent Church of Christ, in the Simpson Auditorium, preached a sermon on "Christ's Temptation in the Wilderness and His Three Degrees," from the text, "Then Jesus was led up of the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil," Matthew. iv, 1.

The Holy Spirit deemed it necessary that Christ should be tried and tempted by Satan, in order to develop His human character and to prepare Him for His public ministry. He "increased in wisdom," and He was present among the doctors in the temple to learn; for He surely did not pretend to be ignorant, when He asked questions. In Hebrews it is written that "the captain of salvation was made perfect through suffering:" that "He was tempted as we are," and that "He learned by what He suffered." Christ was prepared by man and God for His mission. According to the Bible, Satan is sometimes very useful. He destroyed Job's vanity, He sifted Peter and revealed his weakness; and He cured Paul of spiritual pride. He is the severe critic, the merciless sifter, and the exposer of hypocrisy. He tempted Christ and found have time for daily prayer, but that is a poor excuse, and a very few minutes will suffice for such a service. Want of inclination is the real trouble. If we value our children—if we would save them to the state, or the church, or ourselves, or heaven—we must make the family a type of the family above. To omit family worship, to fail to have God in our homes means wreck and ruin, both temporal and eternal. If we love our families we will care for their sprirtual welfare as well as for their temporal interests. A fearful responsibility rests on heads of families here, for the absence of piety in the home leads to fails, reformatories, murders, scarfolds, and hell. Let us all say 'As for us and our houses we will serve the Lord.'"

Personal Religion.

THE meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon was addressed by Rev. A. A. Graves, pastor of the Central Meth-A. Graves, pastor of the Central Methodist Church, who took for his subject "Personal Work in Saving Men." He said, in part, that there had never been a time when the necessity for personal work was so great. The world can never be saved by silence. We hear a great deal about the power of silent influence, but it is not to silent influences that God expects His people to confine their efforts. Men hesitate to speak about religious questions when very often men are hungering to hear about them. Jesus commissioned His disciples to go forth and preach the gospel, and the commission was not confined to clergymen, but was to every follower of Christ. The message should not be merely a repetition of personal experiences, but should be the plain message as given in the gospel itself. Speak to men the comfort of God, that their warfare is accomplished, that their iniquity is pardoned. odist Church, who took for his subject

But "Jim" was relentless. With his hand tightly gripping the arm of a beautiful and richly dressed woman he half pushed, half dragged her along before him into the West Thirtieth-street fore him into the West Thirtieth-street Police Station.

It was 6:30 in the evening. "Jim" was in evening dress, over which he wore a handsome Newmarket coat. He was a tall, distinguished-looking man, with a finely-trimmed moustache, and Vandyke beard, slightly tinged. He looked a man about 40 years of age; she a woman of 35.

"It's no use," said "Jim." firmly. "Publicity or no publicity: I'm going to make an end of this thing here and now."

"Officer," he said to Sergt. Daly, who was at his desk, "I want you to take care of this woman. She is following me, and annoying me. It's got to stop. If she would agree not to bother me I would let her off, but she won't, and

If she would agree not to bother me I would let her off, but she won't, and I will make a charge against her."

The culprit stood with a face of wax-like pallor during this speech. Her lips were trembling, and tears which she made no move to wipe away rolled down her cheeks. It was evident that she was a woman of refinement. The quiet good taste which tempered the elegance of her clothing showed it and the very tones in which she pleaded for forbearance as the two passed into the station-house showed it as well.

"You ought to know that there are half a dozen reporters here," said Sergt. Daly, "before you go any further. Did you know it?"

"No, I did not," said Jim, evidently startled.

"Well," said the sergeant, "can't you fix this up between you somehow?"

"There," said the woman, "I told you," startled.

"Well," said the sergeant, "can't you ax this up between you somehow?"

"There," said the woman, "I told you, Jim, it would all be in the papers. Pray don't, Jim; Pray don't."

"Well," said Jim; "will you promise to let me alone?"

"Yes, yes," said the woman, eagerly. "Yes, yes," said the woman, eagerly. "I will. I will do anything you wish."

"Come on, then," said Jim.

And the two went out of the door together to the street. Here they parted. Jim walked rapidly toward Sixth avenue, and the woman followed sadly but still with an alert step behind him. Jim walked to Fifth avenue, and just before he got there the woman hurried on and joined him at the corner. Here they talked for a moment, and then walked down Fifth avenue to the fine apartment house, No. 264. Here they stopped, and the woman, in a wild, despairing sort of way, threw her arms around his neck and hung there, sobbing and crying and calling him "dear Jim," and telling him that she loved him.

Jim tore himself away, a liveried servant opened the door of the house, and he disappeared.

The woman went to the corner of Thriteenth street, stood there a few minutes and then went back to the house and rang the bell. The liveried servant took a message from her and soon returned. She went back to Thirteenth street and stood there crying. Again she went to the house again was turned away, and went sobbing to Thirteenth street.

Again she went to the house again was turned away, and went sobbing to Thirteenth street. Here she faltered, and yet again went back and rang the bell, only to be turned away again.

Then slowly and sadly she went up the street and turned toward Sixth

There are not many American ploneers in Southern California who can look back to a residence of nearly fifty years in this section. One of these, Marcus Katz, of San Bernardino, died a few days ago at the advanced age of 80 years, after a residence of forty-genery years in that city.

The Santa Fè is spending a large amount of money on its roadbed in Southern California, and it is said will continue to do so for a couple of years to come. The expenditure is said to have been rendered necessary by the increase of freight traffic due to the establishment of the Oriental steamship lne from San Diego. Trainloads of ties are being distributed between El Toro and Orange.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

ANOTHER GOOD GUSHER STRUCK IN THE FULLERTON FIELD.

The Santa Fe's New Well Keeps Up its Flow—Production in the Los Angeles Field Increasing—Prices Slightly Lower—Rumors of Deals. Pennsylvania Oil Shipments.

The Fullerton field has scored another The Fullerton field has scored another good strike. This one is in the Graham-Loftus well No. 3. The strike was made last Monday at a depth of 1700 feet. They started in to pump, but after pumping for twenty-four hours they cut the casing and the well immediately began to flow, and has continued fewelf at the result of twenty-four hours. tinued flowing at the rate of twenty barrels an hour, or about five hundred barrels of oil a day ever since. The fact that the strike was at 1700 feet demonstrates once more the depth of the oil deposits in that field and of the enormous pressure there is from be ow. This strike, following upon others made by the same company, and coming on top of that made a couple of weeks ago by the Santa Fé company in its new well, has created an excel-lent impression regarding the extent of the oil deposits of the Fullerton field, of the oil deposits of the Fullerton field, and confirms the now generally accepted belief that it is sure to become one of the very largest producing joil-fields in Southern California.

The Santa Fé's new flowing well continues to maintain itself in excess of 100 barrels a day, having averaged more than that since October 27, the date on which the strike in it was made. This well and the new Graham-Loftus well are new adding 600 barrels Loftus well are new adding 600 barrels of oil a day to the output of the Fuller of oil a day to the output of the Fullerton field.

As stated in this column a couple of weeks ago, production in the Los Angeles field is on the increase, it now being about ninety thousand barrels a month. The increase is due to new production in the extreme portion of the western field, principally from the Westlake Oil Company, Hardison, Parker, Daggett & Fietcher and Los Angeles Railway Company's wells. The production of these wells is estimated at from 12,000 to 15,000 barrels a month. Some producers, however, are disposed to believe that this estimate of production from these wells is too high. Admitting that it may be, the new production is nevertheless great enough to bring the total monthly production of the Los Angeles field at the present time pretty well up to the 90,000-barrel mark. The result of this is that production and consumption are now about equal, and stocks are no longer drawn upon to meet demand. Prices are a equal, and stocks are no longer drawn upon to meet demand. Prices are a shade easier at from $1 to $1.05 in the field and $1.10 to $1.15 f.o.b. cars.

shade easier at from $1 to $1.05 in the field and $1.10 to $1.15 f.o.b. cars.

Stocks in the field and in storage on the first of the present month are estimated to have been about one hundred and forty thousand barrels, and that is about the quantity above ground at the close of last week. In the absence of any immediate increased demand the probabilities are that stocks will be maintained at about that quantity for some time to come; the situation may therefore be considered a very comfortable one, offering every assurance for future requirements, with nothing in sight to materially disturb prices.

The rumored deal for the Rex Oil Company's Los Angeles vells is said to be off; that is to say, so far 2s the parties who wanted to purchase them is concerned. But it is now said there are other San Francisco people after them, with the possibility that this new deal may go through. The Rex Oil Company is producing an average of 10,000 barrels of oil a month, and is the largest individual producing company in the Los Angeles field. In view

A test is to be made at Garden Grove, in Orange county, of wild horehout to ascrtain whether the extract can be made profitable. The plant grows in great abundance throughout Southern (alifornia. Several years ago a Los ingeles man received an order for several tons of the dry plant from an eastern druggist, and hired a lot of Chinanen to gather it in the foothills north de Elysian Park.

Sugar beets are not the only crop from which sweetness may be manufactured in Southern California. From time to time a little has been done in the making of molasses from sorghum, a variety of cane which does well here. Nar Chico, in Butte county, quite an industry has been built up in this line. The acres of sorghum have been worked up in a four-horse mill, the product of wilch is said to be of exceptionally fine quality.

In the Summerland field, Santa Barbara county, the Duquesne Oil Company has two new wells ready for pumping, and which give evidence of being good producers. The wells of this county work done shows that the oil stratum improves in that direction. The Duquesne company has an ocean front-age of 550 feet. Reports from Summerland show that the shipments of per troleum from there are increasing and it is estimated that for the present month they will be the largest in the history of that city. For last month (October) the output of that field, was about ninety carloads, an increase of ten carloads over September.

There are now thirty-four oil stocks listed on the California Oil Exchange. San Francisco.

In its pipe-line report for September the Oil City (Pa.) Derrick reports that for the first time since last January the stocks of Pennsylvania oil show a decrease, the decrease being an average of about two hundred barrels a day, for the month. The decrease in Buckeys stocks is much greater, they having declined over half a million barrels during the month. These decreases are, in a measure, explained by increased shipments. During September there was a decline of 5298 barrels in net stocks of Pennsylvania oil. During the same month the Lima oil stocks were decreased 545,167 barrels, a total decrease for the month of 551,095 barrels.

The shipments of Pennsylvania oil for September were 90,002 barrels a day and the heaviest on record since October, 1898. The shipments for September a year ago were 88,175 barrels and for September, 1897, 98,374 barrels a day.

OFFICERS BREAK UP TRAMPS' FAVORITE GAME.

They Were Making an Accommodation Train of the ro O'clock Freight-Capt. Sheldon Injured in Trolley-car Accident-The Latest Water Scheme.

PASADENA, Nov. 5 .- [Regular Correspondence.] An invasion of tramps has come upon us the past week. Nineteen have been arrested and many others have been shooed away by the vabeing pulled in and the others left to wander, for lack of evidence. Almost every night, from two to ten tramps board the Santa Fé freight train which comes in from Los Angeles at 10 o'clock. These passengers are so regular that the train has become known as "The Tramps' Accommodation." The practice of the hobos is to walk over from Los Angeles and board the train here, be-cause they do not dare attempt it in Angeles and board the train here, because they do not dare attempt it in the Los Angeles yard, but can easily climb aboard when the freight slows up in Pasadena to register. The constables are doing what they can to break up this practice, and are capturing victims almost nightly. The word had gone around the country among the tramping fraternity, that "The Tramps' Accommodation" was the train to take going east from Los Angeles, together with full directions for "hitting" it. but the news that the game is up will soon spread.

Officers say that there are a surprising number of juveniles among the hobos this fall. Over half of those pulled in are mere boys. One of those arrested the past week was a Pasadena boy who had started for Flagstaff, Ariz., on the "Tramps' Accommodation." He had put on a disguise, and was accompanied by a Los Angeles chum. The constables are sanguine that two boy tramps stole one or both of the two-bicycles which were taken from Fair Oaks avenue on Wednesday night. These young hobos were espied by the officers on the Santa Fé track, evidently lying in wait for the freight train, between 9 and 10 o'clock that evening. When the pair observed that they were watched they took a streak across Glendale street, and the officers saw them go up Fair Oaks avenue. It was at this time of night that the wheels were stolen, one from in front of Howland's Gymnasium on South Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from the vestibule of the Christian Church on North Fair Oaks and the other from th ELECTRIC CAR ACCIDENT.

Capt. O. D. Sheldon of North Galena venue met with an accident on the avenue met with an accident on the South Loop electric car about 6 o'clock this evening. He wanted to get off at Los Robies avenue, but instead of waiting till the car stopped, he jumped off on Colorado street just before the conductor turned the switch, and fell on the pavement. His cheek and fore-head were scraped and he was somewhat shaken up. At Huff's drug store they fixed him up, and he did not seem badly hurt, aside from the loss of a little cuticle.

THE WATER STOCKHOLDERS. "I wish a hearty endeavor might be made to get a majority of the stock of the, East Sale Water Company into the hands of a syndicate friendly to the city, so that the compring might be controlled and a sale made to the city without litigation," says one of the most ardent workers for municipal waterworks. "I believe that enough stockholders would favor this plan to make it a go. If we could get a majority of the stock bunched and could vote it in favor of a sale at a fair price, a long and expensive 'egal coxtest might be averted and money be sayed, both to the company and the city. I went out to feel of the shareholders the other day, and in a few minutes I had 200 shares pledged in support of this plan."

A movement is on foot to call a meeting of the stockholders of this company, to see if they will not subscribe to this or some other arrangement for making the transfer to the of the East Side Water Company into ment for making the transfer to the city without the intervention of a condemnation suit.

TOURNAMENT AND HOSPITAL. The newest suggestion is that of raising money from the New Year's day events for the benefit of the Pasadena Hospital. The proposition is to have an elaborate programme of races and sports in the suburbs, at some point on the car line, in the afternoon of Tournament day, and charge an admission fee which shall swell the hospital fund. If possible, some of the old-time features of the tournament will be revived, and an attempt will be made to interest horsemen particularly. The newest suggestion is that of

ALL SAINTS' ANNIVERSARY.

The seventeenth anniversary of All Saints' Episcopal Church was observed today, when the recently-donated memorials were dedicated. There was a very large attendance at the communion service in the forenoon. The rector, Rev. William MacCormack, preached a stirring discourse, calling on his people to carry on their church work seven days in the week, instead of only one. He referred to the new parish house now being completed as a home for the social and philanthropic endeavors of the church, and he pleaded with the men of the congregation particularly, to do more of the things that Christ would have them do, to bring His religion into touch with the people. Mr. MacCormack would like to see All Saints' an institutional church, keeping "open house" all the time. As things are now, he said, the world has seven chances to the church's one. The music of the day was superb. This morning's "To Deum" was thrilling, and the offertory was sung with grand effect. A special musical service was also given this evening.

ANTI-SALOON EDICT.

ANTI-SALOON EDICT. The saloons of Lamanda Park must lose on or before Tuesday, November 14. This startling edict was passed at the meeting of the newly-elected directors of the sanitary district last evening at the home of Director E. H. Weymouth, on East Colorado street. The directors, Messrs. J. W. Hugus, Weymouth, A. L. Schofield, G. A. Day, and W. T. Sibley, organized by electing Mr. Hugus president and A. L. Schofield secretary. Then they passed a resolution, providing for the posting of notices ordering the saloons to close within a week. The board expects to receive its official seal tomorrow. So the notices will be posted on Tuesday. This action is taken on the advice of the attorneys of the board, and of the Anti-Saloon League. It is summary and a surprise probably even to the saloon men, who have maintained that they cannot be ousted at any rate This startling edict was passed at before April 1, the date upon which their licenses expire. The saloon proprietors affected are M. Rickard and A. Garibaldi. It is an easy wager that these men, who have thus far fought savagely every inch of ground, will not obey the edict of the sanitary board. Then there must be trouble, for the law provides that the board may call on the county authorities, Sherin and deputies to aid them. The sanitary board of North Pasadena will meet Monday night and will likely follow Lamanda Park's example.

BURDETTE'S PULPIT.

BURDETTE'S PULPIT.

There was a new preacher in Burdete's pulpit at the First Presbyterian Church this morning—Rev. C. S. Nickerson of Racine, Wis., who proved to be a very interesting sermonizer. He took as his text Psalms exxv. 2. "As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about His people from henceforth even forever." The speaker pictured the security of the perfected Christian life, always protected by God's care. The fortifications of Jerusalem, which had been deemed the strongest, were the first to fall. So in man's character, what he considers his strongest point may be his weakest. We can place no dependence on our own resources; but the mountains were an impassable bulwark for Jerusalem, and the Lord is a sure suport for those who put their trust in Him.

BANK STOCK.

D. M. C. writes: If a party buys shares of bank stock and pays $125 per share, and after a few years they decide to reduce their capital, and take up one-quarter of the shares, paying the holders $100 per share. When and how do the holders get the other $25 per share which they paid? They say this is in the surplus funds. Your statement is not quite full enough to present the real point. However, as the statement stands, it seems to be an unwarrantable act to arbitrarily conflicate a part of the capital stock in the hands of holders, or place any part in the "surplus funds." It looks strikingly like actual robbery.

C. A. H. writes: Please inform me what can be done by law to collect from me by partner in following partnership arrangement. I and another one year ago invested a small equal amount in a manufacturing business. After two months we ran out of money to carry on the business, but had a small stock; a horse and wagon, etc., on hand. My partner refused to do more work or add more money. And as our agreement was for one year, left me to carry on the business as best I could and divide possessions in the business at the end of the year. I have been unsuccessful, although using my best endeavors, so have gradually lost everything I or we had. Now the question is, can he sue, get judgment and garnishee my wages? I have a family and no real estate or other property except household goods.

The partner did not fulfill his agreement with you, and by abandoning the enterprise and throwing all responsibil-

HOMESTEAD.

A homestead is the dwelling place of a family where they permanently reside. In its inception then or thereafter the substance of a homestead is a parcel of land on which the family resides. It is constituted by the attributes of residence and selection according to law. When these things exist the homestead becomes an estate in the premises selected exempted by law from forced sale, and is as much for the benefit of the children as the law from forced sale, and is as much for the benefit of the children as the wife. And it is the duty of a probate court to set apart the homestead for the use of the family of a decedent, and when set apart it ceases to be a portion of the assets of the estate. HOUSES.

L. B. A.—There is a marked distinction between an inn or hotel and a boarding-house. An inn is a public place of entertainment for all persons who choose to visit it. It is distinguished from a boarding-house in this, that the keeper of the latter is at liberty to choose his guests while the innkeeper is obliged to entertain and furnish all travelers of good conduct and means of payment with everything which they have occasion for on their way. It is an imperative rule that before making an application for such writ there must be an express and definite and specific demand on the defendant to perform the act sought to be compelled by the writ; unless the act is a public duty enjoined expressly by law and in which the relator has no special private interest.

The labor troubles in the Coeur d'Alene mining district are of long standing, and have been the subject of much discussion in labor organizations throughout the United States. Ih July, 1892, the 'Frisco mill was blown up with dynamite by a mob, and five men killed. For several days a reign of tefror existed throughout the Coeur d'Alene district, but United States troops were ordered to the scene, and for many months martial law prevailed. An attempt was made to convict the guilty ones, but every trial resulted in acquittal. After the United States troops were withdrawn lawless acts became frequent, and many citizens were terrorized, and in several fustances men were assassinated. All the mines except the Bunker hill and Sullivan employed union labor, and the Miners' Union' demanded that the company discharge all non-union men and employ union labor, and the Miners' Union' demanded that the company discharge all non-union men and employ union labor, and the Miners' Union' demanded that the company discharge all non-union men and employ union labor, and the Miners' Union' demanded that the company discharge all non-union men and employ union alternate where they blew up the mill of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan companies with dynamite, destroying $250,000 worth of property, and killing two men. United States troops were ordered to the scene under command of Brig.-Gen: Merriam. Martial law was declared, and about seven hundred men were arrested.

All were released except about thirty of the leaders, who are still confined in the stockade at Wardner.

Fol-lowing the precedent inaugurated by Cline, three of the party, of which Mo-

Cline, three of the party, of which Moreno and Cline were members, purchased bottles of wine, the same being enjoyed by the whole party.

After dint of much urging Moreno was persuaded to buy, but instead of treating as they had expected, Moreno slipped the original package in his pocket, with the remark that he guessed he would enjoy the vintage at home. This was not in accordance with the programme, and the assembled company protested. Cline was more demonstrative than the others, and in self-defense, so Moreno claims, he drew a knife and struck Cline on the left side, cutting his clothing, but doing no other damage.

Officer Davis was attracted by the noise of the disturbance, and promptly placed Moreno under arrest.

Deputy United States Marshal Welles cted as clerk in the absence, through illness, of Supreme Court Clerk John-ston. Resolutions of respect to the memory of Marshal M. Williams were oresented by a committee and were or-dered spread upon the record. Several decisions were handed down. The most important was that of the Board of Supervisors of Yavapal county, appellant, vs. M. H. McCord et al., constituting the Territorial Loan Commission, appellees. The decision confirmed the validity of the noted Prescott, Arizona and Central bonds issued by Ya-vapai county. In the judgment it was stated that the bonds are valid by rea-

J. C. Adams, proprietor of the Hotel Adams of this city, won his appeal in the case brought against him by Mrs. Mary Haff, who alleged the responsibility of the innkeeper for the safety of jewelry valued at $5500, stolen from plaintiff in her hotel apartments.

The case of O'Connor & Cottrel vs. J. C. Adams, decided for the plaintiffs in the lower court, was reversed and the case was remanded. It was for $3100, alleged due upon building contract.

The case of Hirst vs. the Glendale Fruit Company was affirmed, as were also the cases of A. C. Baker vs. R. T. Tuston et al., and Rountree vs. Marshall.

F. L. Beard is the individual who found a connection between the mains of the Phoenix and Gardiner water companies. His story was believed to have flaws, and even the Phoenix Water Company now thinks that Beard himself placed the connecting pipe in order to satisfy a spirit of revenge against his former employer. Beard, later, worked for a while for the Phoenix Railway Company. After his discharge he floated a few time checks about the city, aggregating about $50. They were found to be forgeries, and Beard is now in the County Jail awaiting trial.

There is a possibility that Phoenix is to be flanked with another municipality. Murphy Addition, to the eastward, is not to be taken into the city, if the present actions of the City Council are a sufficient gauge. It has on the county books a taxable wealth of $165,000, has one of the three grammar schools of the city, and is generally well situated for incorporation by itself. Two quarter sections of land will be embraced in the proposed new well situated for incorporation by itself. Two quarter sections of land will be embraced in the proposed new incorporation, which could be named East Phoenix, or simply Murphy. The citizens purpose, if they have to incorporate, to issue bonds for $25,000 to establish a model system of government, and, on the whole, make Phoenix ashamed of itself. The first ordinance that would be drafted by the City Council of East Phoenix would be one denying the baser classes the privilege of residing in the town's limits.

Next Monday the City Council of Phoenix is to consider the question of submitting to a vote of the people the matter of municipal waterworks and sewerage. It is probable the session will be attended by about one-fourth of the taxpayers of the city, and a warm time is expected in the pueblo

Flexible Rubber Dental Plates

These plates are flexible, only a trifle thicker than heavy writing paper, fit closer and adhere better to the roof of the mouth. Particles of food and small seeds cannot get under them. They wil last longer, are stronger than any others, and will not break, as they will give first, being flexible. Once tried none other will be desirable. Dr. Schifman's own process, brought to the notice of the public by him only, and made ONLY by us. A perfect it guarateed in every case of piate work.

Persons having trouble with their plates or in having plates fitted, are invited to call and consult us.
